Hi Dave,

I did not get to the Laing yesterday because by the time I got back into Newcastle, I was a little tired and footsore and I realised that there was a bus and I might just catch it, if I went straight to the Haymarket bus station.

When I got home, not long after three, I discovered that Alec had been busy and I have attached a copy what the devious hypocrite had to say for himself.

Firstly, thank you for letting me know that Keith Barnard had left NEMT and this brings me to the first of the disquieting points in Alec's email:

- about two months ago Alec insisted that I use <alec.renwick@nemaritimetrust.org.uk> and a week or so later both Messrs Barnard and Lund were also using @nemaritime.org.ok in their emails.

If you remember we were talking about Peggy when Alec interrupted when he said he wanted a word with me and told him quite bluntly to put what he had to say in writing and I quickly made my excuses, shook hands and I left to go home and this brings me to the second disquieting thing in his email:

- he wanted a word but I told him to write, because I wanted a written record of what he wanted to say and if I did say "that I would know why", it appears that I had anticipated that he would write something as he did, "email communications can be dangerous in cases like this and difficult to control".

Most disquieting from my point of view was his statement, "my offer to discuss face to face was made in the best way possible manner", when in fact he had interrupted our discussion to say that he wanted a word with me.

Peter W had told me that you were going to make sure Peggy was secure on her mooring and I had checked as well as I could from the shore that she was moored soundly I before I met you and I am going to raise the subject of Alec's hypocrisy with him with reference to yesterday's email and copy you into the BCCs as I will have a lot more to say to him about the misconduct of those who should know better.

Hope all goes well with launch of HFS.

Cheers
Mick

PS - I've copied it to my @theharbourview.co.uk mailbox in preparation for my letter/email to Peter.
