

From: Michael Dawson

Sent: Thursday, March 14, 2024 08:28

To: Peter Weightman

Cc: Richard Branson; Paul Nicholson; Dave Parker

Subject: Re: NFHT Golden Gleam

Hi Peter,

I think Richard has a point. It is a possible way forward. NEMT under the current regime, appear be more concerned who owns a vessel rather than whether it should be restored and as a result they are so short of work that they are building a kit-boat, from Jordan Boats in Carlisle, with the help of South Shields Sea Cadets.

Alec is no better than a hypocrite when he blames you for leaving her rotting in St Peters. Sending her to Bridlington, appears to me, to be a way to avoid his hypocrisy surrounding the Golden Gleam.

Cheers

Mick